DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

1. The references listed in the information disclosure statements submitted on 9/9/02 has been considered by the examiner (see attached PTO-1449).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

- (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 2. Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Carlson (US 5,859,853) in view of Reichman et al (US 6,240,073).

Regarding claim 1, Carlson discloses a method for transmitting packets in a train to reduce the packet overhead, wherein a node (i.e, a computer terminal) will accumulate packets until the train reaches a threshold amount (fixed target length) or until a time out period has expired before transmitting the packets (see Abstract or col. 1, lines 35-60), this would include all the claimed limitations except for a two-way communication satellite using a random access scheme. However, since using a random access scheme in a two-way communication satellite system is well known in the art as disclosed by Reichman (see Fig. 1 and col. 3, line 30 – col. 4, line 7), it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to incorporate the above teaching in Carlson to the satellite communication system in Reichman as well, for utilizing advantages of the satellite communication system such as multiple access capability of the satellite.

Regarding claim 2, it is rejected for the same reason as set forth in claim 1 above. In addition, it is clear that Carlson as modified would disclose a plurality of end user terminals as claimed (see Reichman, Fig. 1).

Conclusion

- 3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
 - Wallentin et al (US 6,347,091), Method and apparatus for dynamically adapting a connection state in a mobile communication system.
